Prayer to Sts. Cyril & Methodius

O Holy Slavonic Apostles, Cyril and Methodius, you led those lost souls and us with them from the darkness of pagan error to the light of the true faith of Christ. Now you rejoice with Christ in heaven. We rejoice in your glory, with which God has rewarded your untiring zeal. We humbly thank Him for the great gift of Christianity which our heavenly Father has bestowed upon us through your efforts. Intercede with God for us who are unworthy descendants of Adam. Grant that we may be strengthened in the true faith which you preached in the Slavic lands. Amen
*St. Cyril translated many church books from Greek to Church Slavonic.
He died in Rome on February 14, 869.

FROM THE DESERT FATHERS
We can take individual incidents that happen to us and they may look terrible and bring heartache and sadness. Yet, God can take the sum total of all life's experiences, cement them together with His love and wisdom, and bring forth something good for us.

JESUS PRAYER – Lord Jesus Christ, Son of God, have mercy on me, a sinner

A PRECIOUS GEM
Our souls are precious gems to the Lord. St. Peter writes, "For you know that the price of your ransom from the futile way of life handed down from your ancestors was paid, not in anything perishable like silver or gold, but in precious blood as of a blameless and spotless Lamb, Christ. He was marked out before the world was made, and was revealed at the final point of time for your sake. Through Him you now have faith in God, who raised Him from the dead and gave Him glory for this very purpose – that your faith and hope should be in God" (1 Peter 1:18-21).
When we stray, like the lost sheep in the Gospel of St. Luke, He seeks us out – at any cost. Our souls are too precious to Him to lose even one of us! When the Enemy snatches us and tries to steal our souls by tempting us to sin, Christ urges us to repent, and rejoices when we do so. Thus, Jesus concludes, "In the same way, I tell you, there is rejoicing among the angels of God over one repentant sinner" (Luke 15:10).

The Value of Solitude

Come away by yourselves to a deserted place and rest a while. (Mark 6:31)

The author Fr. Henri Nouwen wisely noted, "Somewhere we know that without a lonely place, our lives are in danger." Jesus and Nouwen were not referring to loneliness. They were urging a temporary departure from others in order to have the essential quiet space for a healthy inner life. Jesus' invitation came out of his experience of being immersed in constant activity. People hungered for his presence and healing abilities. He knew the importance of going apart for prayer and renewal. Every person needs some solitude. Parents with young children long for even snippets of it. So do people forced to work two or three jobs to pay their bills. Monks and nuns would seem to have a sufficient amount of solitude, but even they must make real efforts to attain enough of it. Today, rather than bemoaning the inhumane tendency of people being busy every moment of their waking hours, it is more valuable to set an example by deliberately taking time for our own necessary solitude. -Living Faith

ALL SHOOK UP
In life we are often shook, perhaps upon the death of a loved one, the birth of a child or in a moving spiritual moment at church or in nature. It can be a frightening experience, but God can uplift you. Mary was blessed to be the mother of Jesus. The shepherds shared the Good News of Jesus' birth. Those who saw Jesus' empty tomb were filled with great joy at his resurrection, knowing that death was defeated.
We should not be afraid when shook. God will make things happen in his way and his time for our benefit. He may shake things up so we will be uplifted in his love and care.

SCRIPTURE PRAYER - May the Word of God dwell in our hearts and guide the actions of our lives.
